

Don't worry. You'll never be stranded.

What if your child was sick and you needed to get home right away? Or perhaps your boss asked you to work late to help prepare for tomorrow's presentation. Or maybe you were feeling ill. Or there was a family crisis.

Well, don't worry. As a Metro vanpooler, you can take advantage of our Courtesy Cab program. Here's how it works. If an emergency comes up while you're at work and you need to get home right away, you simply call a cab and Metro reimburses you for the ride. That means you'll never have to worry about being stranded without your car.

It's easy to use, too.

1. Call the cab of your choice. All cab companies participate in our program.
2. Pay your cab fare and get a receipt from the cab driver for the ride.
3. Complete the cab reimbursement form which you can get from your vanpool driver.
4. Mail the form in the postage-paid envelope along with your cab receipt to Metro's Vanpool Services. Metro will send you a check for the amount of your fare.

So come on! Vanpooling has never been easier...and so worry-free.
